PROFILE OF
MR. EMMANUEL
MC-COFFIE ANKAMAH

Mr. Emmanuel Mc-Coffie Ankamah is a Partner with BAFT Chartered Accountants, a member of Russell Bedford International (a global network of independent professional services firms for Assurance/Audit, Strategy & Transaction, Tax & Consulting). He is also currently an Adjunct Senior Lecturer at the School of Postgraduate Studies and ICAG Study School, University of Mines & Technology (UMaT), and a Lecturer at the Elexxon Business & Financial Institute.

Prior to joining BAFT Chartered Accountants, he was a Partner with Millah & Associates Chartered Accountants.

Emmanuel also spent over two decades (1995 to 2017) with AngloGold Ashanti Limited where he held several management and leadership positions, including serving as Senior Finance Manager/Finance Director and board member of AngloGold Ashanti - Geita Gold Mining Limited in Tanzania, Senior Manager-Finance of AngloGold Ashanti Iduapriem Limited and Management Accountant of AngloGold Ashanti Limited - Obuasi Gold Mine. His strong leadership, strategic vision, tactical prowess, and business acumen led to the successful transformation and turnaround of Geita Gold and Iduapriem Gold Mines to be profitable and valuable assets within the AngloGold Ashanti Portfolio.

In 1997, Emmanuel was appointed as Finance Manager from Obuasi Gold Mine to go and supervise the closure of Iduapriem Gold Mine, which was going through levels of financial distress. He successfully re-engineered the finance and cost management portfolio of the business which resulted in a halt of the sell-out process. The mine has since become a world-class mine till today. In all the leadership positions that Emmanuel held at AngloGold Ashanti Limited, he had been sent there mainly to solve critical problems – cost control issues, internal control weaknesses/deficiencies (resulting from group international audit reviews, external auditors’ reviews, or forensic audit reviews), and cash flow management issues, hence his nickname “problem solver”.

Emmanuel’s outstanding achievements and significant contributions to Ghana’s mining industry led to him being nominated for the prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award by the Ghana Chamber of Mines in 2018, 2019 and 2020.

He has also held several other positions besides AngloGold Ashanti Limited, including Part-Time Senior Lecturer of University Cape Coast (1994 to 2007), Principal Internal Auditor of Ghana National Petroleum Corporation (1989 to 1995), and Management Accountant of Ghana Co-operative Bank (1988 to 1989).

Emmanuel holds a Bachelor of Commerce degree and Diploma in Education from University of Cape Coast, a Master’s in Business Administration (MBA) from Eastern & Southern African Management Institute (ESAMI) Graduate Business School, Arusha, Tanzania, and a Postgraduate Diploma in Management Development Practice (MDP) from the Graduate School of Business, University of Cape Town, South Africa. He is a fellow member of The Chartered Institute of Taxation, Ghana, a member of The Institute of Chartered Accountants, Ghana, and a member of The Institute of Directors, Ghana.

My vision for the Institute is to make ICA Ghana the accountancy body of choice in both Ghana and International, grow membership and empower members to take up leadership positions, and enhance ICAG’s image internationally for the benefits of members through fostering valuable mutual recognition arrangements with leading global accountancy institutions.
